INTRODUCTION

The 1961 St. Louis Football Cardinals Press, Radio and Television Guide includes statistics and other information concerning the Cardinals' forty (1920-1960) years in the National Football League.

Professional football is similar to major league baseball in scope and fan interest. Your readers or listeners may ask questions you are unable to answer. When this happens, and due to being in a new city for NFL competition, it will happen more often that in Chicago, we would consider it a privilege to be of assistance.

We sincerely appreciate your wonderful cooperation with the Chicago Cardinals in the past and, for the St. Louis Cardinals, wish to say "THANKS A MILLION"—in advance— for the same cooperation in the future.

CARDINALS' HISTORY

By EDDIE MCGUIRE

The St. Louis Football Cardinals, formerly the Chicago Cardinals, oldest professional football club in any major city in the nation, was organized in 1899 as the Morgan A. C. and played on the south side in Chicago. The team became a charter member of the American Professional Football Ass'n (the great Jim Thorpe was president of the league) when it was organized in 1920, and through 1959, were the only team operating in the same city, they were in when the league was founded. The 1961 season will be the 61st year of competition for the Cards. The team disbanded for lack of opposition in 1907, resumed play the next season, disbanded again in 1918 due to the flu epidemic, but went into action again in 1919.

The Cardinals also won the last pro football championship Chicago had been honored with, the Big Red turning the trick in 1947 when they won the Western Division title and then defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, Eastern Division champions, 28 to 21, in Chicago's Comiskey Park. That was the game in which Charley Trippi ran 75 yards and 45 yards, and Elmer Angsman tore up the middle of the field twice for gains of 70 yards, each scoring two touchdowns and Pat Harder adding the four points after in a most colorful game. The following year both teams again won their division championships and the Eagles defeated the Cards, 7 to 0, in the never-to-be-forgotten "Snow Game" in Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia.

CARDS CHICAGO BACKGROUND

To get back to history, the Cardinals name came about when Chris O'Brien, organizer and owner of the Cards bought some Cardinal jerseys for a pretty good price, and as the team was operating at 61st and Racine streets in Chicago, named the team Racine Cardinals. The Racine part of the name was dropped in 1922 when the Horlick's Co. in Racine, Wis., were awarded a franchise in the National League. In 1920 there was a team operating under the name Chicago Tigers, owned by Gil Falcon, and getting into the late Chris O'Brien's hair. They were playing at Wrigley Field and questioning the Cardinals' supremacy. O'Brien challenged the Tigers, the stake being the losers franchise as a pro team. The Cardinals defeated the Tigers, 6 to 3, when Paddy Driscoll ran 40 yards for the only touchdown of the game and O'Brien owned two franchises. O'Brien had signed Driscoll to a contract calling for $300 a game, and a guarantee of $3,000 — ten games.

The Staley's of Decatur, Ill., wanted to move into Chicago but couldn't do so unless O'Brien, Chicago representative in pro football, gave his okay. The late Joe Carr, president of the American Professional Football Ass'n in 1921, appealed to O'Brien to give his permission for another pro franchise for Chicago, to be known as the Chicago Bears. In 1922 the franchise was transferred from Decatur to Chicago with O'Brien's blessing. The same year the league name was changed to the National Football League.

HAD TO SELL DRISCOLL

In 1925 the Cardinals won the league championship and O'Brien sold Driscoll to the Bears for two reasons — most important (to O'Brien) was that he needed money to pay off some debts left over from his championship season, and secondly, to give the Bears a big name to combat Red Grange who, along with C. C. Pyle, was organizing a new league. Grange had made his pro debut on Thanksgiving Day, 1925, playing with the Bears against the Cardinals in a game which ended in a scoreless tie. Old timers will never forget that day because Driscoll, probably the most popular player in pro ball, was roundly booed during the afternoon because he wouldn't punt the ball anywhere's close to Red Grange. They had paid to see Red run and 36,000 fans didn't hesitate to let Paddy know that they weren't appreciating the masterful job he was doing with his educated toe.

When the Cards won the title in 1925 there were twenty teams in the league, a total exceeded only once in the league's 36 seasons of play, that being in 1926 when there were 22 teams.

Down through the years the Cards have had a great number of great players. The first Cardinal team (Morgan A. C.) lined up as follows:

NFL HAS COME LONG WAY

Franchises in the American Professional Football Ass'n were valued at $100 for charter members in 1920. The New York Giants were awarded a franchise for $2,500 in 1925. Membership was boosted to $10,000 in 1933 and to $50,000 in 1940. In 1948 Fred Mandel of Chicago sold the Detroit Lions for more than a quarter of a million ($250,000) dollars.

Professional football has come a long way since the early 1920's when the two Horween boys of Harvard played under assumed names with the Cardinals. Their parents thought the pro game degrading and the general public looked upon pro football players as individuals who clawed, bit, kicked and gouged out the opposition's eyes.

Today National Football League teams may carry 36 men on their rosters and most teams are right up to the limit. Chris O'Brien, original Cardinals owner, who passed away in 1951, got quite a kick out of that.

"When the league started we carried 14 to 16 players. Of course carrying any more would mean going farther in the hole every payday because the money didn't come in at the gate, but there was an additional reason," said O'Brien. "We started eleven players, just like they do today, but if you took one of the players out for anything less than a fractured skull or broken leg, you had a disgruntled player who wouldn't talk to you for a week. None of the players wanted to sit on the bench, so it cost more for utility players than some of the men who were in there playing sixty minutes." (Editor's Note: Among the regulars were Tackle-End Wilfrid Smith ,sports editor of the Chicago Tribune; Tackle Fred Gillies, president of Acme Steel Co., and Dr. Eddie Anderson, now head coach at Holy Cross and Judge Roger Kiley, both ends, and Judge Duke Slater, a tackle. All were members of the 1925 championship team.)

Of course, those days are gone forever to pro football. Today most players specialize in offensive or defensive play. You have the two, three and four platoon system.

The Cardinals were the first team to go to an out-of-town training camp. Dr. David J. Jones, city physician, purchased the Cards on July 27, 1929, appointed Ernie Nevers coach of the club, and they went to Coldwater, Mich. to train. It was in 1929 — Nov. 28 — when Nevers set an individual scoring mark which still stands. He scored six touchdowns and kicked four points after as the Cards beat the Bears, 40 to 6.

GREATEST CARDS' TEAM

The most colorful and potent Cardinals team was the 1947-1948 club which the late Charlie Bidwill assembled prior to his death on April 19, 1947. In 1946 the Cards had Paul Christman at quarterback, Pat Harder at fullback and Marshall Goldberg at right halfback. Charley Trippi was due to join the club for the '47 season, and, as the late Bidwill put it "That will complete my 'Dream Backfield'." Trippi moving into the left halfback job to complete the quartet.

Unfortunately Mr. Bidwill never lived to see this foursome in action. However, they and the rest of the personnel loved their late owner, and along with Coach Jimmy Conzelman, went on to win the world's championship for Charlie Bidwill.

That club proved the scourge of the league for those two years. Elmer Angsman, the former Notre Dame star had moved in at right half to replace Goldberg who was the league's outstanding pass defense man. With Christman, Trippi, Angsman and Harder in the backfield, and Bill Dewell and Mal Kutner as outstanding pass receiving ends the team rolled up a total of 4,351 yards and 306 points in 1947, and 4,705 yards and 395 points in 1948. The club won nine and lost three in '47 and won eleven and lost one in 1948, winning the Western Division championship both years. On Dec. 28, 1947 the Cards won the world's championship, defeating the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-21, in Comiskey Park, and on Dec. 19, 1948, in Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia, the Cards lost, 7 to 0, in the world's championship game.

Of the 13 teams which now constitute the membership of the National Football League, only four who were in the circuit when the Cards won the 1925 championship — the Cards, Bears, Green Bay and the New York Giants — have continued to play year in and year out without interruption.

In 41 years of league play and 60 seasons of football competition the Cardinals have had three owners — the previously mentioned Chris O'Brien and Dr. Jones, and the present owners, Mrs. Walter Wolfner and her sons Charles W. Jr. (Stormy) and William V. Bidwill. Mrs. Wolfner is the widow of the late Charles W. Bidwill who purchased the club October 24, 1933.

CARDINALS' COACHES

FRANK "Pop" IVY, Head Coach

Frank Ivy, a native of Skiatook, Okla., an All-America selection from the U. of Oklahoma and one of the top pass receivers, as well as defensive ends, in the National Football League with the Chicago Cardinals, is starting his fourth season as head coach for his pro Alma Mater, now the St. Louis Football Cardinals.

Frank, in his freshman season as Cards head coach, introduced varied offenses which made the Cardinals the most talked about team in pro ball, and had opposing coaches working overtime in an attempt to stop the new stuff—double-winged T, triple-flanker, lonesome quarterback, etc. However, thirteen rookies—a good many of whom were used on defense, proved to be the difference between Ivy being a "miracle man" and an interesting, successful first year man.

Ivy in 1959, continued to exhibit spectacular offenses, had a considerably improved defense, but unfortunately the Cards set a new team record in fumbleitis, no less than 48 official fumbles. Ivy continued to make personnel changes—retaining 13 rookies and 10 second year men. Best indication of the turnover of personnel can be gathered from the fact that only 3 players who started the 1957 season with the Chicago Cardinals, are expected to report to the 1961 training camp.

In 1939 Frank was an outstanding end at Oklahoma and "all-team selectors" recognized his ability, aggressiveness and desire by picking him on All-America teams. The Pittsburgh Steelers drafted him following the 1939 season and the Cards obtained him prior to the 1940 season.

In 1942 Frank was second among the NFL pass receivers, catching 27 for 259 yards. In '41 he had finished eighth with 20 catches good for 183 yards. Frank, nicknamed "Pop" due to a scarcity of curly locks when he first joined the Cards, entered Service with the Infantry following the 1942 season and returned in time to play part of the '45 season.

In 1947 Frank was one of the top defensive ends in the league as he helped the Cardinals win the World's title.

In '48 Ivy returned to his Alma Mater where he was assistant to Bud Wilkinson for six years.

In 1954 Frank became head man for the Edmonton Eskimo's of the Canadian League and proceeded to win three Grey Cup championships, the first time any Canadian team had won three consecutive national titles. He won the Western Conference title in '57 and lost in the playoffs. His four year record with Edmonton included 50 victories and 14 defeats in league competition and 11 wins and 4 losses in playoffs, far and away the best record ever achieved by a coach in Canadian football. It also earned him a new nickname "Ol' Poison" — affectionately — in Canada.

Frank has had only three jobs since leaving the U. of Oklahoma in 1940 — six years as a player with the Cardinals, six years as assistant coach at Oklahoma and four seasons as head man at Edmonton. During the six seasons Frank was assistant to Wilkinson at Oklahoma the Sooners won 53, lost 5, tied one and won three out of four Bowl games.

Ivy is looked upon as a "business man coach," and rightfully so because it's his business and he works at it, diligently. He's a real, likeable guy with a good sense of humor. However, he is also a tough taskmaster, has been accustomed to success, likes it that way and plans to continue along those lines. Frank is 6-3, weighs 230 and is 45 years old. Birth date January 25, 1916, in Skiatook, Oklahoma.

CHUCK DRULIS, Assistant Coach

Starts sixth season with the Cardinals. Chuck was born in Girardville, Pa., March 8, 1919, and after being selected an All-Eastern guard while playing for Temple U. in 1941, played pro ball in Chicago in 1942. Was in Service until mid-season 1945, when he returned to pro ball in Chicago. All-Pro guard in 1947-48. Joined the Green Bay Packers in 1950 and was named assistant coach in 1951. Joined Philadelphia Eagles staff as assistant in mid-season 1954 and became member of Cards coaching staff in 1956. Chuck played against Head Coach Ivy when the latter was an end for the Cardinals. Chuck was an assistant coach with the Eagles in 1955.

RAY PROCHASKA, Assistant Coach

Starts fourth season with Cards. Ray, a 41 year old native of Ulysses, Nebr., was Frank Ivy's top assistant at Edmonton when the Oklahoman put together his almost unbelievable coaching record. When Ivy took the Cardinals' head job, Ray was offered the top spot at Edmonton and also at Regina in the Canadian league but the big Nebraskan chose to stick with Ivy, which, as Managing Director Wolfner put it "Was a terrific tribute to Frank Ivy."

Ray was an end at the U. of Nebraska and wound up his collegiate playing career with the Cornhuskers in the Rose Bowl in 1941. Played the 1941 season with the Cleveland Rams in pro ball. Was in the Army—1942-46, and had the rank of captain when discharged. Returned to Nebraska as end coach in 1946 and remained with the Cornhuskers until he joined Ivy in May 1955 in Edmonton, Canada.

RAY WILLSEY, Assistant Coach

Ray starts second year in pro ball as a coach. Played one year professionally at quarterback for Coach Darrell Royal when the latter was head man for the Edmonton Eskimo's of the Canadian League. Willsey was born 31 years ago in Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, the family later moving to Santa Ana, Calif., where Ray played high school and junior college football. After graduation from prep school he spent two years in the Navy. He enrolled at the U. of California in 1951 and played quarterback and defensive halfback for two seasons. As a senior in 1952 he played more minutes than any other California player. After the '53 season he served as an assistant at California and in 1956 joined Royal again as assistant at U. of Washington in '56. In 1957 he moved to the U. of Texas with Royal and has been an assistant there the past three years.

EMMETT "Abe" STUBER, Talent Scout

There isn't a man better qualified to handle this type of position for a professional football club. Abe was in the coaching business for 31 years—28 as head man or assistant in college ball, handling administrative duties also, and three years as a pro. In '55 he was an assistant with the Philadelphia Eagles, with the Green Bay Packers in 1956 and with the Chicago Cardinals in 1958. In 1957 and 1959 he was in the Investment Brokerage and Real Estate business in Cape Girardeau and Piedmont, Mo. The 57-year old Stuber is a native Missourian who quarterbacked the U. of Missouri teams in 1924-5-6. Was head coach at Southeast Mo. QUARTERBACKS

SAM ETCHEVERRY, veteran quarterback from the U. of Denver and Montreal Alouettes, starts first year with the St. Louis Football Cardinals. Sam was born May 20, 1930 in Carlsbad, New Mexico. He led Carlsbad high to a state title in football in 1946, which led to a scholarship at Denver. Despite the fact that he led the Skyline Conference in total offense in his junior and senior years, he was ignored completely at the 1952 National Football League draft meeting. Coach Doug "Peahead" Walker of the Alouettes, in casing the collegiate records, found that Etcheverry had done real well and nobody had given him a tumble. So, Walker offered Etchverry a tryout with Montreal — Sam accepted and the rest is history, glorious Canadian Football League history. Sam never had a bad year in Canadian pro circles, played every game —122 of them (this doesn't include exhibition gamse) and put together records which just about eclipse anything done by quarterbacks during their career in the NFL. Sam tossed 3,258 passes, completed 2,086 for a total of 30,381 yards and 183 touchdowns. His completion percentage for the nine season is .640. A total of 191 were intercepted. His best season was in 1956 when he attempted 446, completed 276 for 4,723 yards and 32 touchdowns. His longest pass completion was good for 109 yards (includes pass and run). Canadian football fields are 110 yards in length. Best single game was against Hamilton of Canadian loop, on October 16, 1954 when his 23 completions out of 36 attempts were good for 586 yards. Included was a 106-yard completion. Probably one of the reasons for passing Etcheverry in the NFL draft was his height — five feet, ten inches in 1952. He is now 5 ft. 11½ in. Sam lived in Albuquerque, N. Mex. for many years, but for the past several years he has lived in Montreal where he was employed by the Canada Dry Co. during the off-season. Sam married Juanita Louise Mulcahy of Albuquerque, and they have three sons and a daughter. Fraternity: Sigma Chi. Has B.A. Degree in History and Physical Education. The Etcheverry Family plan to make their home in St. Louis from now on.

GEORGE IZO, quarterback and All-America selection from Notre Dame, starting second season with St. Louis Football Cardinals. Was Cards No. 1 draft choice in 1960 and played behind both John Roach and King Hill, both of whom have been traded since the end of the '60 season. As the season wore on last year, Izo became more important to the Cards scheme. Got his first chance in the fourth game of the season, at Pittsburgh, and did so well against the Steelers that Coach Frank "Pop" Ivy gave him the starting assignment against Dallas in St. Louis the following week. However, he suffered a reoccurrence of an old knee injury and was out the balance of the season. Had the knee operated on prior to the end of the '60 season and is looking forward to the coming year. George was born in Barberton, O., Sept. 20, 1937. Has B.S. Degree in Business Administration. Played in East-West Shrine game following '59 season. Is 6-3, weighs 217. Was third in the nation in total offense last year with 1,634 yards (1,511 passing and 123 rushing). All-Border Conference first string QB for past three years. Born Nov. 22, 1938 in Big Spring, Tex. Competed in football, golf, basketball and baseball in high school in Big Spring, and captained teams in the latter two sports. Captained the 1960 NMSU football team. Has B.S. Degree in chemical engineering and was Cadet Colonel of the Army ROTC unit in college. Married Barbara Lynne Shields of Big Spring, Tex. Is 6½, weighs 190.

Was New York Giants fifth draft choice and came to the Cards in a player deal. Played defense in his first year with the Cards but has been on offense past two seasons. Has carried the ball 97 times for 419 yards, caught 21 passes for 245 yards, returned 24 punts 217 yards, 30 kickoffs 726 yards, and scored 117 points on 58 PAT's, 8 field goals and six touchdowns. In three years John David has carried the ball 375 times for 1,958 yards, caught 72 passes for 1,152 yards and scored 22 TD's for 132 points.
